

Luke Harwood

#hangingwithmystrings

Luke 'Harwood' Harwood started playing music at an early age, but soon realised that the piano he started out on lacked the creative expression he was looking for. At the age of 13 he received his first guitar as a birthday present, and that is where his journey began.

After leaving school he went on to study Music and Music Technology at A level, and then on to Derby University where he studied Music Technology and Production. Whilst studying, Luke played in several bands including Two:Minutes:Hate, A Thousand Enemies and Path To Prevail. Luke is now a guitarist for Nottingham Hard Rockers, Patriot Rebel www.patriotrebel.co.uk

As well as playing music live, Luke has a keen interest in all things musical, especially guitar gear and recording equipment, which is a main feature on his Youtube and Instagram channels. Luke also undertakes gear demonstration both live and in video form.
